

Manage Audience Question and Answer from Admin Dashboard

Step by step guide:

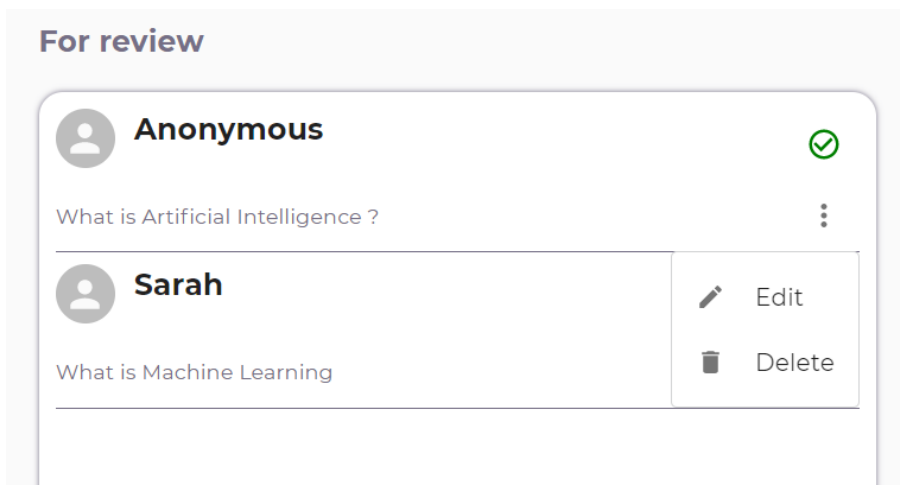

1. Click on the required event present on the admin dashboard.
2. Click on Audience Q & A tab

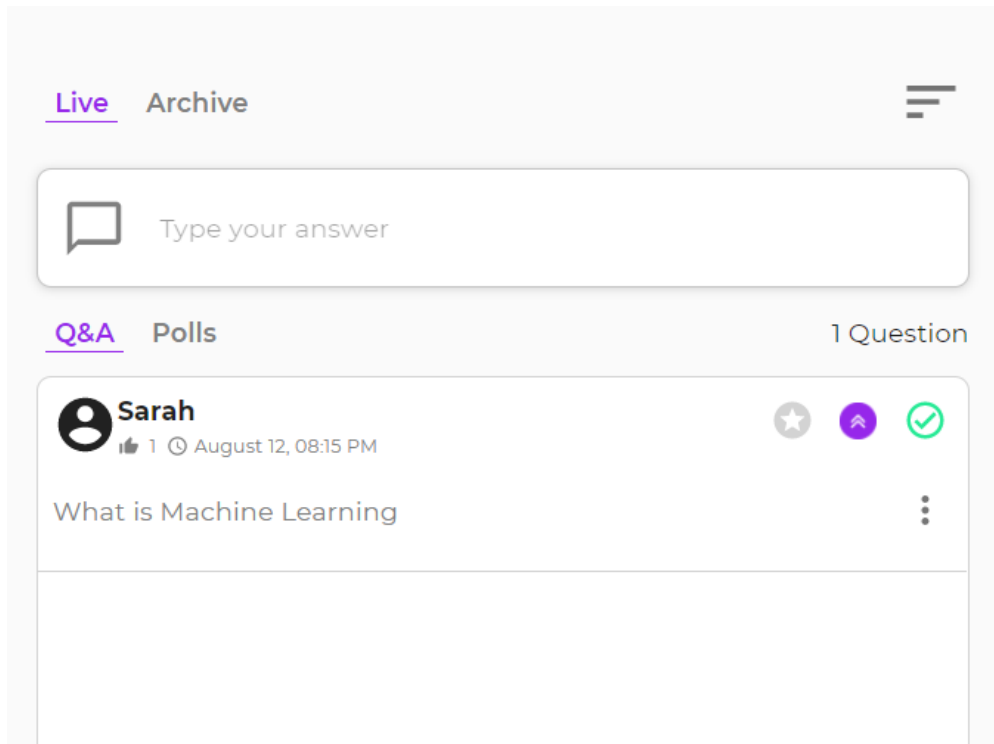

3. All questions from anonymous and registered users are visible on the left side panel which are available for review.
The questions under review are not displayed to the whole audience, it goes live only when approved by the admin.
4. The admin can review the question and click on the green tick mark present on the right hand side of the question.

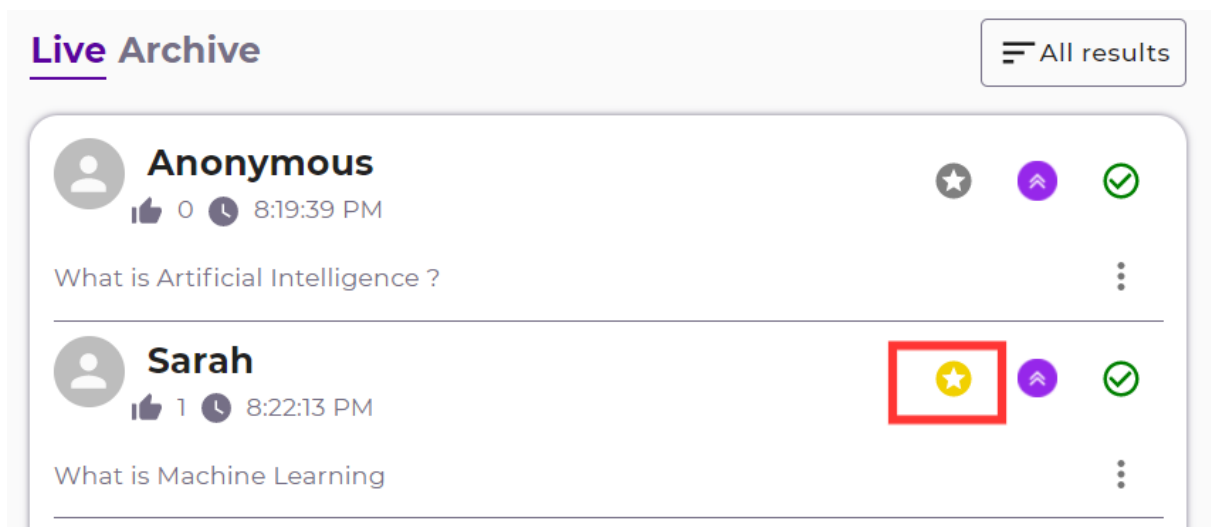

If the admin is not interested in the question, he can either delete or edit the question before going live

5. Once approved by the admin, the questions will go live and it will be available in the live section present on the right hand side of the screen. The question along with the correct date, time and also the number of likes given is being displayed on the screen.

The admin can star the necessary questions to highlight them while presenting

The admin can also shift the order of questions as per requirement.

Live Archive

All results

Anonymous

0 8:19:39 PM

What is Artificial Intelligence ?

Sarah

1 8:22:13 PM

What is Machine Learning

6. Finally after live, the admin can archive the question by clicking on the green tick mark present on the right hand side of the live question. All the archived questions will be present under the archive tab.

Live Archive

All results

Sarah

What is Machine Learning

